The Mental Health Support Team in schools provides low intensity mental health interventions to children, young people and their parents/carers. It also supports staff to develop their school/college approach to emotional wellbeing

Children & young people have told us they want to be supported by staff who can identify with them, who have empathetic skills, who listen, and who involve them in decisions about their care. Young people also feel the mental health workforce should be representative of the population of Calderdale in terms of ethnicity, disability, sexuality, and lived experience (i.e. service users or member of a vulnerable group).
